Local Information

Clapham is centered around the vast, popular common and is known for the village-like atmosphere of its historic Old Town. Clapham South Side is home to both an array of bars and restaurants as well as quiet residential streets near Abbeville Village. The Northern Line provides transport links from Clapham Common and Clapham South into the city.

The area known as 'Between the Commons' is an affluent area popular with families and young professionals alike. Northcote road runs through the centre of the area and provides a bustling hub of cafes and boutiques. The road also features the Northcote Road market that sells something for everyone. Clapham Junction station which is one of Europe's largest stations provides links both in and out of the city.

Clapham is also well known for its calibre of private and state schools as well as a host of nurseries providing education opportunities for any age.
