DESCRIPTION

The property comprises an attractive period building arranged over two storeys. The building is of traditional masonry brick construction with rendered front elevation beneath pan tiled covered roofs. Windows and doors are timber framed.

The property provides self-contained commercial and residential accommodation. In addition, there are a number of outbuildings to the rear which are currently vacant and offer great potential for development.

The retail element of the property is known as 107 High Street with the accommodation arranged over two levels. The ground floor comprises a large open plan salon incorporating a reception area with stores, offices, kitchen, and toilet facility off. To the first floor there are a series of treatment rooms with the accommodation fitted out to a good specification providing attractive centrally heated modern hairdressing and beauty treatment space.

To the rear of the salon is a self-contained five bedroomed house, known as 109 High Street, arranged over ground and first floors, plus additional attic storage space. The residential property benefits from an external yard and car parking area, plus it's own independent access. The accommodation comprises a kitchen and sitting room on the ground floor, with five bedroom accommodation and family bathroom to the first floor. The accommodation benefits from gas fired central heating.

At the rear of the property are a series of outbuildings comprising a former garage, two store rooms and an open store, all of which are currently vacant. The character buildings offer scope for further development, subject to any necessary planning consents.
