DIRECTIONS

From Edinburgh take the A8 to Newbridge. At the Newbridge Roundabout, continue straight over for the A89. Continue on the A89, continue straight over the Kilpult Roundabout and take the first left onto Newhouses Road. Continue straight on this road, going over the M8, under the railway tracks, and over the canal. Continue round the sharp right bend, then take the next left. Illieston Castle is located at the end of the road, past the steadings on the left.

SITUATION

Set in a lovely rural location about two miles southeast of Broxburn on the high north bank of the River Almond, Illieston Castle is surrounded by open countryside, yet has the benefit of being close to excellent transport links for commuting to Edinburgh or Glasgow.

The nearby train stations of Livingston and Uphall provide good commuter train services. There is also a convenient tram stop at Ingliston Park & Ride and the property is also extremely well placed for driving to both Edinburgh and Glasgow, via the A71 and M8/M9 and M90 motorway network.

The area is well served by local playgroups and nursery, primary and secondary schools. Nearby Livingston offers a wide range of services and amenities including extensive shopping facilities, supermarkets, restaurants, coffee shops and leisure facilities, including gyms and swimming pools, and also a multi screen cinema. The nearby town of Broxburn is 2 miles away, and provides a range of shops, pubs, a post office, a medical practice with library, pharmacies, swimming pools, and leisure/gym centre. All the fee paying schools in Edinburgh are easily accessible, as Illieston Castle is located only around 10 miles from the city centre. The independent Clifton Hall School (3-18) is 2 miles away.

Almondell Country Park offers country walks, mountain biking and hacking on the doorstep. The Edinburgh International Climbing Arena is only half a mile away. Scotland's new award winning sculpture park, Jupiter Artland, is across the river at Bonnington. The magnificent Union Canal and tow path from Glasgow to Edinburgh is just a mile away and is a fabulous amenity for walking, cycling and boating. The coastal town of South Queensferry and historic Linlithgow are both less than a 20 minute drive away.

HISTORY

Illieston Castle is thought to date back to the late 16th or early 17th century, when it served as the Royal hunting seat of the kings of Scotland—most notably James II and James IV. The lands of Illieston have been mentioned as far back as the 1200s and the Roman name Halistonium was once used. The Hamilton name has long been associated with Illieston, after Lord Hamilton was given the lands and house as reward for releasing the Earl of Monteath from capture at Pontyfract Castle. The Hamilton family became the owners of Illieston once again in 1693 when they bought back the estate from leading advocate John Ellis who had carried out major alterations at the tower house in the 1660s, including the construction of the elegant gateway engraved with his initials. The Hamilton's owned the property and land until 1765 when ownership passed over to the Earl of Hopetoun, and further renovations were carried out in the late 1850s under supervision of the notable architect William Burn. In 1950 the property was acquired by the Brownlee family who still farm the land surrounding Illieston today. The main building has since been gradually restored and upgraded over the last nine years by the current owners, making it entirely suitable for modern living.

DESCRIPTION

The property is approached down a tree lined avenue, with a pair of intricate baroque gates opening onto a gravelled courtyard. The warm rubble construction of the property is complemented by crow stepped gables. The large wood front door opens into a large vestibule, with internal glass door opening into a welcoming hall. There is a spacious dining room to the right, which contains a plethora of original features and is full of character. A multi fuel stove is set within a fireplace, with adjacent linen press. The room is lit by dual aspect windows, one looking out over the courtyard, with the remaining two facing south over the rear garden with views over the River Almond and to the mature woodland on the southern bank.

To the left of the hall is a cloakroom with WC, access to the sitting room, which could be used as a snug or dining room, and a large kitchen with dining space. Within the kitchen there is a two oven cream AGA and fitted base units. From the kitchen, both a large utility room and back porch can be accessed.

From the hall a stone spiral staircase leads up to the first floor where the master bedroom / 1st floor drawing room or 'The King's Room' is located. Also on the first floor is a bathroom and another double bedroom. This floor is currently let out on Airbnb, proving to be a very popular and successful offering. There are fantastic southerly views over the River Almond and surrounding open countryside. The King's Room has recently been renovated and offers fantastic views to the south over the open countryside.

The spiral staircase continues up to the second floor where three bedrooms are located. There is a family bathroom with bath, WC and two basins. The two bedrooms at either end of the upper landing are lit by dual aspect windows, providing stunning views to the Pentland Hills. There is a secondary spiral staircase which leads up to a small turret room, currently used as a study and spare bedroom. One attic has been used as a playroom/model room and the second larger one has been floored and two conservation roof lights installed.

Adjacent to the kitchen and utility room is a recent boiler house with log store extension which connects to the original East Pavillion. This forms the east wall of the courtyard.

OUTSIDE

To the west of the courtyard is an area of lawn with kitchen garden and two outbuildings; a bothy 'Garden Studio' and garden shed. The Bothy has been transformed into a very successful self-contained accommodation, which is also let out on Airbnb. There is a stone wall to the west, providing shelter and a boundary for the garden. Willow fencing surrounds the north east and west boundaries of the property, creating a buffer of garden from the open fields and countryside. In addition to the space to park in front of the courtyard, there is additional space for multiple vehicles to park to the west of the Coach House.

Two paddocks and surrounding open land of around 18.64 acres start either side of the tree-lined avenue approaching the property, and continue down to the banks of the River Almond, of which Illieston Castle enjoys the right to fish in. The river offers salmon, trout and sea trout fishing.
