A rare opportunity to purchase a completed Grade II listed building in the Lake District.

Stone Cross Mansion is a unique refurbishment. A stunning Mansion originally built as the family home of the Kennedy family in 1874. Award winning developers Charles Church have painstakingly restored the building, returning it to its former glory whilst internally creating a very special collection of only 19, two and three bedroom apartments. Developers Charles Church were rewarded for their efforts by winning Best Refurbishment Project at the 2019 Housebuilder awards.

Apartments are finished to high standard but with an opportunity for the new owners to add their own interior design. The Mansion is an excellent investment opportunity. Offered as freehold with 4.3 acre land.

Situated within walking distance of the bustling market town of Ulverston and approached by a beautiful tree line drive, Stone Cross Mansion is a Grade II listed building built in limestone to a Gothic/Scottish baronial style. Overlooking beautiful gardens and tree-lined scenery with some apartments having breath-taking panoramic views over Morecambe Bay and the towns most loved landmark; Sir John Barrow Monument on top of Hoad Hill.
